“SPAIDER, per la parità dei diritti” is an NGO for the development cooperation to support Europe and Poor Countries through projects of different issues: immigration, culture, youth policies, healthcare and education.

As the Statute declares, it aims to fight against every kind of discrimination (racial, religious, political, gender). The volunteer’s actions are fundamental for the objectives of the Association.

SPAIDER was established in 2011 in Sicily with the head office in Melilli (Siracusa). From its born it organizes artistic and cultural events to sensitize people towards human rights. SPAIDER organised three theatre performances with the following goals: firstly, promoting the Association among local citizens; secondly, offering primary and secondary schools children an opportunity for an active participation in the local community and, at the same time, proposing the theatre as an innovative and alternative education tool.

The main tool used by the Association’s team of project managers, educators, lawyers, psychologists, is the education for the development aid by the theatre. In this sense, the theatre is the way to achieve this goal.
